

Dress, The Vampire's Wife

COVER GIRL

NATHALIE ELENI explains how to get Yasmin Le Bon's supermodel glow

We wanted to keep Yasmin Le Bon's natural and timeless beauty shining freely for our cover fashion story this month, so skin preparation was key to the final look. Spending time hydrating and revitalising your skin ahead of make-up application means less coverage is needed and more natural beauty will be on show.

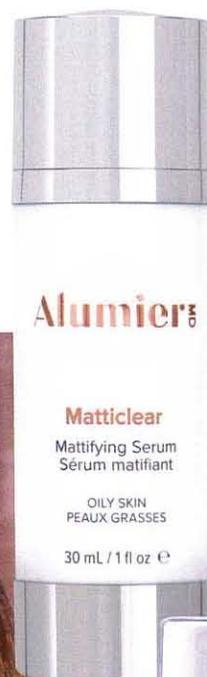

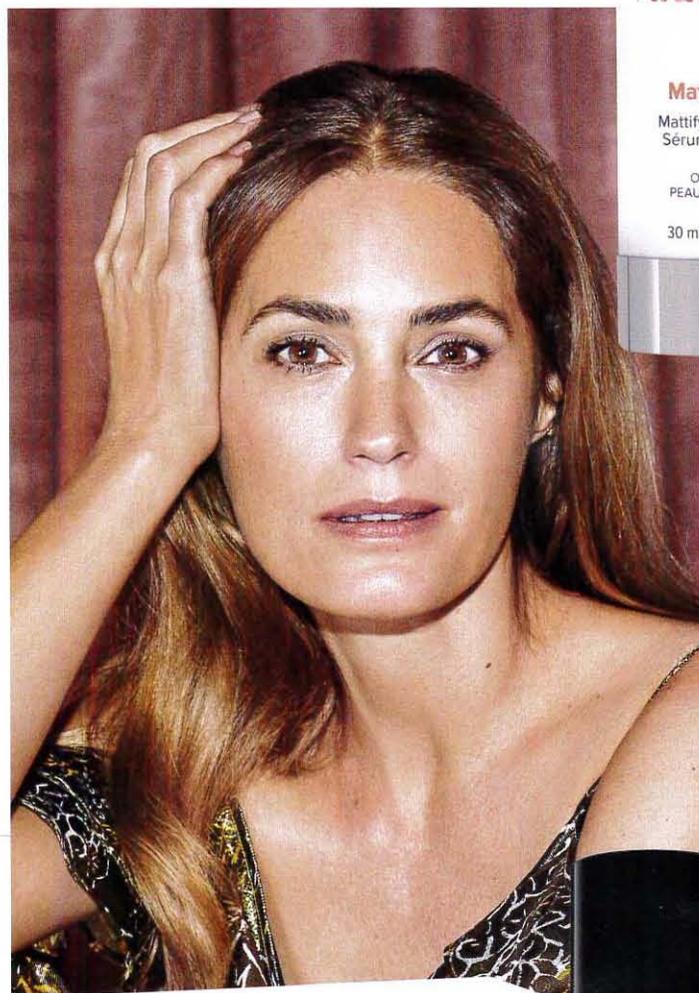

A hydrated complexion is smooth and sealed with moisture to bounce off light beautifully for 'lit from within' skin, so don't skip or rush this important step if you want to achieve a supermodel glow.

Here are the five steps I used to further enhance Yasmin's luminous complexion.

1 First of all apply Fillerina Eye & Lip Contour Cream Grade 1 to lips.

It naturally fills and defines contours. Pat it around the eyes to refresh and smooth them – it's perfect before applying eye concealer and lipstick and gives impressive results for natural skin plumping. £40. feelunique.com

2 Massage Temple Spa Skin Truffle – Total Facial Radiance – a miraculous moisturiser that revitalises skin to make it glow – into your skin before applying foundation for a perfectly radiant base. £90. templespa.com

3 Apply AlumierMD Matticlear to the T-zone to keep skin perfectly balanced. It absorbs oil and can easily take the place of your powder. £52. alumiermd.com

4 Spritz VENeffect Skin Calming Mist on your face before and after foundation. Calming, refreshing and instantly hydrating, it leaves a dewy glow while also protecting skin with antioxidants and infusing it with the youth-boosting benefits of plant-based phytoestrogens. £48. spacenk.com

5 Create a pore-less base by applying Arbonne Makeup Primer ahead of make-up. £32. arbonne.com